PRESS RELEASE

Internet Phones Not Allowed For Lottery Sales Without Approval

Beijing, China –Oct 21, 2010

The Ministry of Finance recently issued the Interim Administrative Measures for Lottery Sales on the Internet and the Interim Administrative Measures for Lottery Sales on Phones (hereinafter collectively referred to as these Measures). For the purpose of these Measures, “Lottery Sales on the Internet” refers to using a browser, client or other software to sell lottery through the internet and other computer information network systems and “Lottery Sales on Phones” means using a fixed-line telephone and mobile phone to sell lottery tickets through short messages, voice calling and others.

“These Measures forbid the connecting of a telephone selling system in any way with the internet to sell lottery tickets” commented Edward E. Lehman, Managing Director of Lehman, Lee & Xu.
